You have been notified to be a part of a gripping case that takes an immersive twist. Twelve diverse individuals find themselves sequestered in a claustrophobic deliberation room to decide the fate of a young African American man accused of the murder of his father. As tensions rise and preconceptions clash, they must unravel the complex web of evidence presented during the trial. As the intense emotional journey unfolds all around, you observe each character's motives, biases, and doubts up close. The evidence is deliberated over and you'll find yourself entangled in the moral dilemma, ultimately witnessing the power of human reasoning, altruism and empathy.
